

Classic yachts ride the waves at Cowes

Kelpie* runs aground on Gurnard Ledge during the second race of the first day

A CLASSIC yacht once owned by HRH the Duke of Edinburgh sailed to its fourth consecutive victory in the Hermès Mumm Trophy Race at Cowes last Saturday.

Bloodhound, skippered by Harold Cudmore, has taken every Class-1 line honours prize since the biennial tournament was inaugurated in 1992. Fifteen yachts took part in the two-day tournament, held at and run by the Royal Yacht Squadron.

Strong winds keep momentum high as Bloodhound (left) and Cetewayo battle it out

